

Possible Future Local DAB Expansion

Last Updated: January 2018

The 2015-2016 expansion of the local DAB network will extend coverage to about 90% of the population of England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, approximately matching coverage of the independent local radio network in the early 1990s. Further expansion of the local DAB network will be needed to match current BBC Local and Regional radio coverage before FM and AM transmitters can be switched off. Further transmitters are also needed to match the FM coverage of some regional and small-scale commercial stations.

New DAB transmitters must be registered with the International Telecommunications Union (ITU). These registrations are generally published online at <http://www.itu.int/en/ITU-R/terrestrial/brific/Pages/default.aspx> a few months or weeks before the transmitter opens. DAB transmitters are in the GE06 lists. Currently, many transmitters are being registered that are not part of the current local DAB expansion programme. These include the 'Phase 2' plans already published in early 2015. Currently, no funding has been announced for these transmitters.

This article lists:

- The additional DAB transmitters registered with the ITU.
- The currently planned transmitters.
- The additional sites proposed by Arqiva in Ofcom's 2011 DAB coverage consultation. These have been adjusted to match the current multiplex coverage areas, which changed in 2015.

Comments are also made on the likely priorities. Commercial radio will wish to prioritise those transmitters with the highest population coverage. About 100 of the proposed transmitters serve populations of 15,000 people or more; these are marked with an asterisk (*). For the BBC in England, it is more important to provide DAB coverage for areas where FM coverage is poor. Historically, AM has been used to fill many of the gaps in BBC local radio FM coverage. However, FM/AM radios are gradually being replaced by DAB/FM radios that cannot receive AM. In Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, there is pressure on the BBC to match coverage of its regional services to that of its national services. A second priority for both the BBC and commercial broadcasters is to fill coverage gaps along major roads. Based on these criteria, the choice of transmitters to register with the ITU is inconsistent. For some multiplexes, transmitters with very low population coverage have been registered with the ITU. For other multiplexes, significant towns with poor reception of BBC local radio on FM have been omitted from the recent ITU registrations.

Note that the maps show 2016 outdoor coverage.

Comments

The proposed transmitters mainly serve areas outside London that are already served by neighbouring multiplexes. However, they do bring improved coverage to areas near the M25. Epping Green and Chepping Wycombe serve a large population (~1 million) and already carry the London 3 multiplex. Coxheath serves a sparsely populated area of Kent, so is pointless. Additional transmitters at Alderbourne Farm and Byfleet would be useful to improve coverage around the western M25.

Comments
The Otford transmitter fills a gap in FM coverage of Radio Kent. The Chatham Town, Hamstreet, Lydd and Margate transmitters serve areas with slightly weak FM reception of Radio Kent. Gravesend and Dartford have good reception of the London DAB multiplexes and of Radio Kent on FM, so should be a lower priority. Many villages near the Sussex border have poor DAB reception and weak FM reception of Radio Kent so would be candidates for further transmitters if considered economic.

Comments
The Midhurst transmitter serves ~50,000 people in Surrey and East Hampshire and Haslemere serves ~20,000, so it is surprising that Haslemere has not been registered with the ITU. All proposed transmitters serve areas with poor FM reception of Radio Surrey and no AM reception. Byfleet, Staines and the villages east of Guildford are candidates for further transmitters.

Comments
The East Grinstead and West Wittering transmitters each serve about 25,000 people. East Grinstead has weak reception of Radio Sussex on FM. Selsey and Chichester have good FM reception of Radio Sussex and can receive the South Hampshire DAB multiplex. Thus, East Grinstead should be a higher priority. DAB reception is also poor in Battle, Robertsbridge, Ticehurst and Wadhurst, all in Eastern East Sussex, but these areas have good FM reception of Radio Sussex.

Comments
The Petersfield transmitter should be a high priority as it serves ~20,000 people who cannot receive Radio Solent on FM, relying on AM. The other proposed transmitters serve a few thousand people each, generally in areas with slightly weak FM reception of Radio Solent. Radio Solent FM reception is strong in the Lyndhurst area. Arguably, Hannington is not needed as it already transmits the Berkshire and North Hampshire multiplex.

Comments

The Barton Farm transmitter serves ~15,000 who are served by BBC Somerset on FM, but not Radio Solent for Dorset. Burgate Manor Farm covers a significant population within Hampshire with weak FM reception of Radio Solent, which is also available on AM there. However, the Bournemouth multiplex currently only carries the Dorset version of Radio Solent. Thus, both transmitters should be priorities. Cerne Abbas and Portland serve very small populations and have slightly weak FM reception of Radio Solent for Dorset, so are arguably much lower priority. Bridport and Lyme Regis are currently within the South East Devon multiplex area, though unserved. Bridport, at least, should be reallocated to the Bournemouth multiplex as it is served by Wessex FM alongside Dorchester and Weymouth.

The Windsor Castle transmitter is needed to complete coverage of Berkshire and serves around 200,000 people. However East Berkshire is also served by the London multiplexes and there is good reception of Radio Berkshire on FM. There are small gaps in coverage around Hermitage, Goring and Henley on Thames. However, the latter two could be served by the Oxfordshire multiplex.

Comments

Adding Blaenplwyf, Brecon, Clyro, Llandrindod Wells, Llandyfriog, Mynydd Pencarreg and Tenby, together with Haverfordwest, would match DAB coverage of Radios Cymru and Wales to that of BBC national radio. Many of these areas can only receive Radio Wales on AM. Brechfa, Hafod y Gledau and Troedrhwr have very low population coverage, mainly serving roads. A significant omission is the Sennybridge area of Powys, which is one of the largest populations with no FM radio reception at all. Transmitters serving Knighton and Presteigne near the border with England are also needed; these towns have no local or regional radio on FM.

Comments

Adding Monmouth and Mynydd Baeden would match DAB coverage of Radios Cymru and Wales to that of BBC national radio. In the long term, transmitters at Blaenavon, Ferndale and Porff, together with improved coverage of Monmouthshire will be needed.

Comments
The Midsomer Norton transmitter serves about 35,000 people who cannot receive Radio Bristol on FM (AM has been switched off), but can receive BBC Somerset. This transmitter should be a high priority. However, it might be better allocated to the Somerset multiplex. The Dursley transmitter is a proposed addition to the Gloucestershire multiplex, so is not necessarily needed for Bristol and Bath as well. Burrington and Michaelwood serve only a few thousand people, are lower priorities.

Comments
Beacon Hill, Salisbury and Tidworth, extend coverage to South East Wiltshire, serving ~110,000 people between them. The Devizes transmitter serves around 15,000 people, while Box fills a gap in FM coverage of Radio Wiltshire. Thus, these should also be a priority.

Bampton Castle, Chiseldon and Tetbury serve a few thousand people each. Ogborne St George serves a very small population, but fills a gap in FM coverage of Radio Wiltshire along a major road. In the long term, further transmitters are needed to improve coverage in Woolton Bassett and along the M4 to the South and West of Swindon.

The Washford transmitter serves about 17,000 people, including the town of Minehead and the Vale of Taunton, where BBC Somerset is not available on FM. Chard and Fry's Hill serve nearly 15,000 and 10,000 people respectively, so are also a priority. Most of the other transmitters have low coverage, particularly Luckyard Farm and Stockham Farm, so are arguably lower priority than some of the proposals for other multiplexes.					650 000

The transmitters registered with the ITU each serve a few thousand people in areas where FM reception of Radio Devon is weak. These transmitters have similar coverage to those introduced in 2015-16. Honiton and Kennford serve fewer people, while Bridport and Lyme Regis could alternatively be allocated to the Bournemouth multiplex.					Proposed in 2011 Ofcom DAB Coverage Consultation
					St Erth, Cornwall				SW 542 358
					Comments
					Torpoint serves about 35,000 people who can also receive the Plymouth multiplex. Boscastle, Isles of Scilly, Launceston, Looe, Lostwithiel and St Erth each serve a few thousand people. Boscastle and Port Isaac also fill holes in FM reception of Radio Cornwall. The remaining transmitters serve very small populations with adequate reception of Radio Cornwall on FM, so arguably low priority.

Comments
The choice of transmitters to register with the ITU seems odd. Johnstone Moor, Muddiford and Wind Lane all serve very small populations. Their main function is to fill gaps along roads. Woolacombe and Berrynarbour both serve a lot more people. Of the remaining transmitters, only Countisbury, Hartland and Stickelpath serve more than a thousand people each. All proposed transmitters serve areas where FM reception of Radio Devon is poor.

Possible Future Local DAB Expansion

Frequency Finder (www.frequencyfinder.org.uk)

Comments

The Buxton transmitter serves around 35,000 people, so should be a higher priority. Ashbourne and Grange Farm serve areas with poor FM reception of Radio Derby, with Asbourne serving around 13,000 people. Calver Peak is another potential site.

Comments

All proposed transmitters serve areas with slightly weak FM reception of BBC Essex and poor FM reception of local commercial radio. However, major gaps in BBC Essex FM coverage in North West and South West Essex remain unaddressed. These areas are served by the Cambridgeshire and London multiplexes, respectively, so BBC Essex could be added to those multiplexes to provide county-wide coverage.

Comments

All of the proposed transmitters, except for Linford Wood, serve areas with poor FM reception of BBC Three Counties Radio and serve more people than many of the transmitters proposed for the South West. Thus, there is an argument for allocating high priority to all of them. In the longer term, transmitters to improve coverage in Royston, Buntingford, Hoddesdon and Cheshunt might also be considered.

Comments

Many of these proposed transmitters serve small populations. Naseby, Raunds, Rothwell and Shortgrave Wood could be prioritised. The Wharfedale and Todmorden transmitters serve large populations while Hebden Bridge connects Todmorden to the rest of the multiplex. Bradford Hilton serves a small resident population, but a city centre has lots of visitors. Skipton could be served by the North Yorkshire multiplex only.

Comments
Whitby and Skipton each serve about 20,000 people, so are high priority. Woolmoor and Ripon serve a few thousand people each, covering towns that are mostly served by Bilsdale. Extension to the Yorkshire Dales would require multiple transmitters, with Settle covering the largest population; currently Radio York does not serve this area. The area between Scarborough and Whitby currently has poor FM reception of Radio York (AM coverage is available), so will also need serving at some point.

Comments
The Skinningrove transmitter serves about 5,000 people, some of whom have poor FM reception of BBC Tees. The Whitby transmitter serves about 25,000 people, so is a priority for either the Teeside or the North Yorkshire multiplex. Coverage of the Esk Valley is needed to link Whitby to the main multiplex area.

Comments
Beech Hill, Crompton Moor, Glossop and Ladder Hill all serve large populations. Birch Vale connects Ladder Hill to the rest of the multiplex area, while Warrington provides city centre coverage. Thus, these transmitters should all receive high priority. Whitworth is scheduled to receive the Lancashire multiplex, while Torhead and Woodhead provide road coverage only at the periphery; these three transmitters are arguably unnecessary.

Comments
The Lancaster transmitter, serving about 200,000 people, fills the largest gap in coverage. Haslingden (~75,000 people), Whalley and Barnoldswick also provide significant coverage.

Comments

Adding Granttown, Kingussie and Rumster Forest would match DAB coverage of Radios Nan Gaidheal and Scotland to that of BBC national radio. Rumster Forest also serves a large population. Lairg, Tomatin and Tomintoul serve very small populations.

UNALLOCATED AREAS

Many parts of Scotland have not been allocated to a DAB multiplex. The following transmitters would be needed to match coverage of Radios Nan Gaidheal and Scotland to that of BBC national radio:

Scottish Borders

Comments

Adding Ballycastle, Enniskillen, Larne, Maddybenny Moor and Tully Quarry would match DAB coverage of Radio Ulster to that of BBC national radio. Cushendall serves a very small population, but this area cannot receive Radio Ulster on FM. A transmitter at Belcoo, Fermanagh would fill another small gap in FM coverage.
